DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 13 contains the trademark/trade name Catofin®. Where a trademark or trade name is used in a claim as a limitation to identify or describe a particular material or product, the claim does not comply with the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph. See Ex parte Simpson, 218 USPQ 1020 (Bd. App. 1982). The claim scope is uncertain since the trademark or trade name cannot be used properly to identify any particular material or product. A trademark or trade name is used to identify a source of goods, and not the goods themselves. Thus, a trademark or trade name does not identify or describe the goods associated with the trademark or trade name. In the present case, the trademark/trade name is used to identify/describe a catalyst and, accordingly, the identification/description is indefinite.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over admitted prior art in view of Houdry (US 2,419,997) and Herbstman (US 4,409,417).

Through the use of the Jepson claim format, applicants admit that steps (a)-(f) are prior art.

The cycle extension and hydrogen introduction are not admitted as being prior art.

The Houdry reference discloses that time of contact can be changed during operation in order to balance heat. Time is necessarily measured in units such as seconds and minutes. See column 2, line 58 through column 3, line 51.

The Herbstman reference discloses the presence of hydrogen during dehydrogenation. See column 3, line 55 through column 4, line 23.

Art Unit: 1764

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to change contact time during the reaction as suggested by Houdry because changing this time changes the heat balance. Changing the time so that it is longer would necessarily result in a delay in the process that would affect all aspects of the process.

It also would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the process of the prior art by including hydrogen in the amounts claimed in the process as suggested by Herbstman because formation of carbonaceous deposits will be reduced.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The EP reference discloses a dehydrogenation process.
